4. TOURNAMENT STRUCTURE

4.1 Tournament Rules.

- (a) Grandmasters is governed by these Official Rules and the terms contained in the Handbook.
- (b) For all tournament matches, each player will use Hearthstone card decks that they have created using special Tournament Play Accounts provided by Blizzard. Players will play matches in the region determined by Blizzard.

4.2 Grandmasters Seasons and Schedule.

- (a) The Grandmaster tournament is split into two seasons ("Season(s)"), with a Hearthstone

World Championship (“World Championship”) event to occur thereafter.

- (b) Blizzard, in its sole discretion, will determine the dates and times of all Grandmasters matches (“Match Schedule”). The Match Schedule for each Season will be communicated to players no later than 2 weeks prior to the start of each Stage of the respective Season.
- (c) Players will submit deck lists to Blizzard’s designated tournament administrator for matches for the whole competition week prior to the deadline designated by the tournament administrator. Players will submit the same decklists for each of their matches during that week. Decklists in Grandmasters will be revealed to opponents prior to a match.

4.3 Grandmasters Structure Generally.

- (a) All Tournament matches for Grandmasters will be held remotely online, apart from the World Championship which may take place at a live venue in Blizzard’s sole discretion.
- (b) Competition for Grandmasters Season 1 is split into three geographic regions based on player residency: Americas, Asia Pacific, or Europe. Competition for Grandmasters Season 2 (“Last Call”) will only have one global region including players from Americas, Europe and Asia Pacific combined.
- (c) Each Grandmaster region has a maximum of 16 participants.
- (d) Each Grandmaster Season consists of 3 weeks of individual Ro16 dual elimination groups into top 8 single elimination tournaments (referred to as “Regular Season”) and a Seasonal Playoff week.

4.4 Regular Season of Each Season.

- (a) The match and tournament format for Regular Season will be announced by Blizzard prior to the start of each Season. Formats will be selected by Blizzard between existing match formats which include but are not limited to Conquest, Trio and Last Hero Standing.
- (b) The Regular Season of each Season will consist of 3 weeks of competition that will award “Grandmasters Points” towards placement in the Seasonal Playoffs. Each Regular Season tournament week will consist of 4 groups of dual elimination group pairings between all 16 players in the same region. The initial seeding for each week will be randomized and revealed after deck submission. The 8 players to advance out of the 4 dual elimination group groups in each region will then compete in a Single Elimination bracket to determine the final standings for the tournament. Players will be awarded the following points each week based on the final standings of each Regular Season tournament:

Grandmaster Points
1st place	5 points
2nd place	4 points
3rd-4th place	3 points
5th-8th place	2 points
9th-12th place	1 point
13th-16th place	0 points

- (c) Following the conclusion of the Regular Season, players will be ranked based on the number of points accumulated in all Regular Season tournaments that Season (“Grandmaster Points”). The 8 players in each region with the highest Grandmaster Points will be seeded into the Seasonal Playoffs (as described in Section 4.5(b)).
- (d) Grandmaster Points ties will be resolved by the following tiebreakers in the following order of priority starting from top to bottom:
 - (i) The player with the most 1st place finishes in weeks 1-3 advances
 - (ii) The player with the most 2nd place finishes in weeks 1-3 advances
 - (iii) The player with the most 3rd place finishes in weeks 1-3 advances. In the event that two or more players are still tied, repeat the process with 5-8th place finishes. If players are still tied after that, repeat the process with 9th-12th place finishes.

4.5 Seasonal Playoffs

- (e) All matches in each Playoff will be best of 7, 5-deck Conquest with a ban phase format as described in the Handbook.
- (a) After the conclusion of each Regular Season, the top 8 players in each region will advance to that Season's Playoff. Each Playoff will consist of two Dual elimination group brackets that seed into a top 4 single elimination.

- (b) In the first Dual elimination group: the 4th seed from the Regular Season plays 5th seed from the Regular Season in the Initial Match of the dual elimination group; the 8th seed from the Regular Season will be placed in the Elimination Match of the dual elimination group and 1st seed from the Regular Season placed in the Winner's Match of the dual elimination group.
- (c) In the second Dual elimination group: the 3rd seed from the Regular Season plays 6th seed from the Regular Season in the Initial Match of the dual elimination group; the 7th seed from the Regular Season will be placed in the Elimination Match of the dual elimination group and 2nd seed from the Regular Season placed in the Winner's Match of the dual elimination group.

 - (i) Should a player be disqualified from participation or otherwise unavailable to compete in the World Championship, that player's invitation will be passed down to the next eligible player from the same tournament that the removed player qualified from starting with second place, then third place and so on in sequential order. For any Tournament that qualifies toward the World Championship, Blizzard reserves the right to make players play in additional matches to determine 5th-8th place at a separate date and time from the rest of the tournament for the purpose of determining who should receive World Championship invites.

- (ii) Invites to the World Championship will be awarded chronologically. In the event a player would earn multiple World Championship invites from two different Tournaments (from both a Grandmasters Playoffs and a Season Championship, for example), any additional invites after the first invite that the player earned will be passed down to the next player in the Tournaments that happened after the first invite was earned.

- (g) It is possible that a Player At Risk of Relegation is also a Candidate for Promotion. In this case, this player is simultaneously relegated and promoted.
- (h) Blizzard, in its sole discretion, will choose players to replace the Players At Risk of Relegation for Season 2 from the pool of Candidates for Promotion.
